Bellow each reference in the result list you find the link "Import into EndNote" (7). Click on this link to import the reference into EndNote.

The export file will usually be saved by the browser and you need to get it opened for the references to be imported to EndNote.

Examples above show Chrome and Mozilla Firefox.

EndNote will now only list the imported references. We recommend that you check a couple of references to see that the import was correct. Google Scholar does not always import all data correctly and manually corrections may be needed in the library. This applies especially for non-article references.

Click on "All references" in the left pane to see all references in the library.
