Personalization on a library website

We started with this

The screenshot shows the library's website with a dark header bar containing links for STARTSIDA, UTBILDNING, FORSKNING, BIBLIOTEK (highlighted in green), and OM KI. Below the header is a large banner image of two women in a library. The banner text reads "Universitetsbiblioteket". The main content area is divided into three columns: "SÖK BÖCKER OCH TIDSKRIFTER", "LÄNN & TJÄNSTER", and "SÖK- OCH SKRIVHJÄLP". Each column contains a list of links. To the right of the columns is a sidebar titled "Genväg till:" with four items: Lyktan, Student-IT, Produktioner, and Bildmakarna. At the bottom of the sidebar are three cards: one for "Chatta med KIB" (with a speech bubble icon), one for "Distansåtkomst" (with a key icon), and one for "Öppettider" (with a clock icon).

Working with Drupal

- Popular Open Source Content Management System
- Pros:
 - Rapid development, free
 - Lots of user contributed modules
 - Google the manual
- Cons:
 - Steep learning curve
 - User contributed modules can vary in quality
 - Multi-lingual sites a bit tricky

Working with Drupal modules

- Shibboleth
 - Authentication
- Homebox
 - Drag & drop personalization
- Finder
 - Auto-suggest search
 - Limit type of site search
- Feed API
 - Aggregating content from different types of feeds

Will they use it?

- Worst Case: Only default site is used--still an improvement
- Best Case: Some users actually personalize and get more out of the site
- Usage depends on the quality of our content.

What now?

- Possible future applications?
 - Expand existing services: Search my databases with Metalib
 - More niche services for specific user groups: For example, advances PubMed tools for reasearchers
 - More integration with other systems: Group room, Metalib, Repository
 - General user login
- Things we haven't tackled yet:
 - Mobile services
 - Offering applications in contexts other than our website
